WILL DISCUSS WAYS TO HELP THE CRIMINAL

World's Most Famous Criminologists Gather at Washington to Attend International Congress

WILL STUDY PRISON REFORM

Nearly Fifty Countries Represented a Big Gathering Which Opened Today-China Sends Delegate for the First Time.

Washington, D. C. Oct. 3 .- The greatest gathering of students of crime and of methods of treating criminals that the world has ever witnessed assembled in this city today at the opening of the meeting of the International Prison Congress. The sessions are being held in the new National Museum and will continue through the entire week. The attendance embraces several hundred of the world's most famous criminal criminologists and prison experts, gathered from nearly fifty countries.

For the first time in her history China is participating in the international movement for prison reform She has sent a delegation consisting of progressive young men who are taking a prominent part in the work of reshaping the system of jurisprudence of the empire and in the prac tical administration of the laws, Japan likewise is represented at the coneral of the countries of South and Central America. Virtually all of the nations of Europe, including Russia and Turkey, are well represented at the gathering.

Consider Prison Reform.

The congress will consider the sub ject and applications of criminal law, and methods of improving the condition of prisons. Its subjects are pure humanitarian, and comprise the whole range of practical measures intended to benefit the erring individual, as well as protect society as a whole Penal legislation will be the subject of much discussion and the advisability of the death penalty will also be considered. The effects of probation the best methods of dealing with the tramp problem, indeterminate sentence, the problem of the drunkard. the essential principles of a modern reformatory system, the improvement of the parole system, the best means of working prisoners in small prisons the problem of the child criminal, and the procedure regarding penal sentences ponounced by courts of foreign lands when the prisoner is again in

AEROPLANE CAN DEFEND COASTS FROM ATTACK

General Miles Believes Craft of the Air Will Prove Equal to the Occasion in Time of War

COAST VESSELS NOT NEEDED

Well Known Army Man Believes Time is Not Far Distant When Airships Will Replace the Navy on Our Coasts.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 3.-The aeroplane, instead of being an adjunct to the navy, is likely to replace it, so far as coast defense is concerned, in the opinion of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, who arrived here yesterday.

"The aeropiane will be the means of coast defense," said Miles, discussing aerial navigation. "Aeroplanes can be built by the score for what one battle ship costs. Their use would curtail fly a hundred miles out to sea and drop explosives over hostife fleets these fleets will be cautious about attacking a coast. And this condition will come.

"Aiready any nation which goes to war must reckon with the aeroplane They would be extremely advantaous in reconnoitering, and when up 7,000 feet would be practically immune from injury by rifle shots."
